

Design starts by combining atomic components. A superposition of everything acceptable in our design, should result in another acceptable design.

$$|\psi\rangle = \alpha|0\rangle + \beta|1\rangle$$

We design modular systems where components work alone yet combine seamlessly. Typography, grids, and interactions should harmonize like waves, reinforcing clarity instead of clashing.

Fourth Principle

The Superposition Principle